Some things are more dangerous than they look.

Brightly colored boxes. Sweet candy flavors. And, oh yeah: addictive additives, cancer-causing chemicals, and enough nicotine to keep teens hooked. These new tobacco and nicotine products may look harmless, but they can do serious damage. And we've had enough.

That's why we are spreading the truth about tobacco. We're telling people about the nasty chemicals, the addiction, and the serious damage tobacco products can do to their lives, their bodies, and the people they care about. We're taking action, and you should too.
